Tolga Bektaş (University of Liverpool)

Compact formulations, projections and some polyhedral results for the vehicle routing problem

This session will cover alternative, good and better compact formulations for the Capacitated Vehicle Routing Problem and their connections with exponential-sized models. It will also touch upon applications of polyhedral theory to derive some well-known subtour elimination inequalities and their liftings.